Thursday 5th March 2026

Dear parent/carer

If your child is interested in becoming a medical student, RoadtoMed are offering a series of free workshops. This is a free course of online workshops running from March to November covering all things relevant to UCAT teaching, Personal Statement guidance, Interview practice, UCAS strategy, experience building through Medical School lectures, medical ethics debates and much more.

Once your child signs up, they will be added to the Free Workshop student list and Zoom Meeting links will be sent out prior to each session. At the end of the session, those who have attended the session are sent a certificate and the workshop recording for further review. Current NHS doctors or UK medical students deliver all sessions.

RoadtoMed are also offering parents a free workshop to help them better support their child with a medicine application.
